A RAILROAD "SAFETY SYSTEM."

There has been in recent years a vast amount of agitation on the subject of safety appliances on railroads and railroad equipment. The labor organizations have made an issue of it, successive presidents of the United States have urged the matter on the attention of congress; considerable legislation of a compulsory sort both by that body and by state legislatures has resulted, and the consequent good has no doubt been considerable, although not always easily measurable, Meantime, the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company has devised and put into operation a "safety system" of its own-and the results of it are definitely measurable and disclose an almost wonderful achievement. Moved by the great and apparently increasing number of railroad accicents all over the country, especially to employes or the companies, the Chicago and Northwestern shout a year ago began an experiment that its management was pleased to call a "safety campaign." Meetings of division officers and men were called, and at these the great loss of life by railroad accidents and the physical injuries and the financial loss involved were discussed freely in all their details. It was finally decided to check the thing-to reduce the slaughter and the loss to a minimum-and the co-operation of every man in the service was asked and, in return, as promptly promised. As describe! so briefly by the Washington Post, the plan was

"Safety committees" composed of officers and men were appointed for each of the seventeen divisions of the road. These committees met once a month, the company paying them for their time, and their duties were to discover, investigate and report defective conditions and careless practices. They were expected to provide the remedy. Safety bulletins were distributed among all the employes and posted in conspicuous places where the men congregated. With every pay check bittle "pasters" or "stickers" were given each bearing some warning or suggesting a safety precaution. The wording of the pasters was changed every month. One read: "In case of doubt, adopt the safe course. Speed must always give way to safety."

These are only a few of the details of the scheme-which is not regarded as complete but constantly takes on new features and discards discredited ones as experience dictates.

The results? Here is the chief and by far the most significant one; for the first eleven months of operation the Chicago and Northwestern railroad had a death list against it fifty-four less in number than for the cleven months next preceding; the injuries were fifteen hundred and fiftynine less in number-a decrease altogether of sixteen hundred and thirteen cases of death and in-

The financial saving no doubt runs up into the millions-and the saving in wear and tear and worry a unquestionably too large for computation. And all through the intelligent and constant application of ordinary considerations of safety in railroad operation! The plan has become a permanent part of the company's system. It beats compulsory safety appliances to a

A mining company operating near Auruh, Nevacta, in White Pine county, has adopted an unique plan of financing its development operations, a plan which is reported to have been very successful. The development work has been done along co-operative lines. Those owning the ground interested a group of thirty miners, who have carried on the work, taking stock of the company in payment. A first class mountain road making the property accessible was one of the first things undertaken, but now the mine has been opened up, and is practically ready to start shipments. As the ore, report comes, is in demand at the smelters, there will be a market ready for all that can be taken out-and the profit making stage is now declared to be near at hand. This might earry an idea for other companies struggling to make income meet necessary expenses.

If the climinated candidates for supervisor decide to leave San Francisco in a body, it will make quite a difference in the population,

At last the laugh has been turnd on the little blind god, Cupid. A Chicago couple were married on a counterfeit bill the other day.

UTAH FALLS INTO LINE.

Earlier in the present year Colorado undertook the task of discovering and opening up new mineral deposits; encouraging the prospector to make a thorough study of the districts known to be mineral bearing, yet in which comparatiely little work has ever been done. This has been undertaken as one means toward bringing about more lively interest in the mines of the state. Further effort along the line of interesting capital has been and is being made; and the general result has been good.

The state has been widely advertised; its latent mineral resources brought foreibly to the attention of those outside the state. New capital has come in, and new camps are appearing in which considerable interest is being taken.

As a result of the initial success of the Colorado idea, other communities declared the idea to be one of value and took steps either to follow along the same line, or to undertake other work that would effectively advertise the mineral resources of their respective sections.

The most recent move in this direction i of the mining men of Salt Lake City who have called a meeting for the coming week, at which time will be discussed emans of arousing interest in more extensive exploitation of the state's resources. Detailed information is being gatherer relative to the mineral wealth of the state which will be available for use in any advertising

The various commercial bodies co-operating with those actively interested in the mines of the state may do considerable toward bringing in new eapital, and thus preparing the way for a more extensive exploitation of the state's resources, Consistent work should result in much good to the state.

PROVING VALUES.

The recent strike of ore in unexpected quarters in Tonopah has brought about a revival of mining life in the Southern Nevada camp that was almost unexpected. The day is fast returning when the big investor will turn his attention to the mines, not as a speculative and fictitious gambling, but as a safe and proper investment. It is such proof that Tonopah is furnishing that is turning the tide in favor of deep mining in

With the bottom being shaken out of a lot of gambling supposed stocks, such as steel and others, the men with money are looking for something that they can tie to and feel secure. A mine like the Belmont or the Mizpah is beyond the scope of speculation. They have paid many times their purchase price and are developed to a point where the stockholder can see his dividends ahead for seevral years to come. It will be in kope of developing such properties that hig money will come into Nevada. It takes money to make money in the mining world, but it will be forthcoming. Agents are now in the field looking for a chance to get in on the ground floor and they will be given the chance. Nevada's mines are now the leading properties in the finangial limelight and the ray promises to become stronger. It is now on a basis of legitimate investment and is so recognized by the men with means to swing the deals.—Carson Appeal.

THE RECALL.

At a meeting of lawyers in Reno last Saturday it was the decision that the recall as administered to jurists would be detrimental, and that would work an injustice on the higher planes of the profession, that it would be dangerous in the hands of the people,

The lawyers are a funny lot. They are graced with higher education as a class from the schooling and practice, while their association with clients of all creeds and conditions gives them an insight into human environments that the layman does not feel or have occasion to use. On the other hand the lawyer is just a man at that. Not long ago, says the Carson Appeal, the lawyers of Reno disbarred an attorney for practice they claimed was unethical. Another case is now pending before the supreme bench on a like cause. They were both lawyers. The attorneys evidently want the recall in their own instance, but do not want the people to have the same privilege. The people will decide the matter and not the lawyers. Should a judge be elected who proves a scamp, a man without honor or moral decency, or is found looking after the interests of the corporations instead of the people he should be recalled. It looks very much as if the question was as broad as it is long. A seamp lawyer is just as likely to happen as a seoundrel doctor, newspaper man or other professional follower.

POPULATION OF THE U. S.

During the lat ten years the population of the United States has increased twenty per cent, but the acreage under tillage has increased only four per cent. Does that hel pexplain why the cost of living has advanced? It proves that the pressure on subsistence is increasing much faster than the increase in prodeuiton. The effect is a rise in the cost of food products and the value of farm lands. Each year sees more mouths to feed and no increase in the land from which sustenance must be obtained. As vacant territory is rapidly filly up, it is obvious that the soil must be made to yield more if mankind is not to feel the pinch of hunger. Hence every effort to improve tillage and fructify the soil should be encouraged, for the food supply of the future depends largely on making the soil produce larger returns.

United States mail has been carried in an aeroplane. It was dropped over its destination at a signal. If the aviator who has this jot is really far-sighted, he will wear his address and enough stamps to take him back to his home town in case of a fall.

Yes, it is time that war was stopped. The football games and aviation will furnish enough fatalities to keep the globe from being over-
